How does it work?

Viacloud BusinessMobile is a 2 stage calling service. By signing up for this service, we register your mobile number in our system and activate your account. Once the service is activated, you can install our app which automatically dials the required toll free number, followed by the destination number to make international calls using this service.

For android phones the app works transparently in the background and you can use your phone as usual. For iPhone users you need to open the app and make a call from the phone book or dialpad. All international calls made from your mobile phone are sent to Viacloud, and are delivered to the destination over our Next Generation Network (NGN).
